Letters from Absent Class Members

Class Reunion--

A time to compare

Thickening of waist and thinning of hair.

A time to ignore any defects of aging

And keep looking affluent, bright, and engaging.

A time to allow the old ego trip,

Recalling achievements at a remarkable clip.

A time to appease curiosity and hunger

For old friends.

And note how you've stayed so much younger.

A time to say farewell with pangs of sweet sorrow

And dream loving memories until it be 'morrow.

For Auld Lang Syne, my dear, For Auld Lang Syne,
We'll take a cup o' kindness yet, For Auld Lang Syne.

And here's a hand my trusty friend, And gie's a hand o' thine;
We'll take a cup o' kindness yet, For Auld Lang Syne.

For Auld Lang Syne, my dear, For Auld Lang Syne,
We'll take a cup o' kindness yet, For Auld Lang Syne.

Auld Lang Syne

Should auld acquaintance be forgot, And never brought to mind?
Should auld acquaintance be forgot, And days of Auld Lang Syne?

For Auld Lang Syne, my dear, For Auld Lang Syne,
We'll take a cup o' kindness yet, For Auld Lang Syne.

And here's a hand my trusty friend, And gie's a hand o' thine;

For Auld Lang Syne, my dear, For Auld Lang Syne,
We'll take a cup o' kindness yet, For Auld Lang Syne.

Mrs. Flora Gum, Ex-Teacher, Dies

Mrs. Flora Lee Gum, 34, a former teacher at South Charleston, died Monday night in a Bethesda, Md. hospital after a long illness.

She was a resident of 1609 King St., South Charleston, and had taught school in Kanawha, Lewis and Pocahontas counties before illness forced her to retire. She was a graduate of West Virginia University.

Mrs. Gum was a member of the South Charleston First Methodist Church.

Survivors include her husband, Austin; a sister, Mrs. Mary McFarlane of Elliott City, Md.; a brother, Orian Lee Post of Clarksburg; and her mother, Mrs. Gladys Marts Post of Clarksburg.

The body will arrive at the Barlow - Bonsall Funeral Home Wednesday.

The cause will probably never be known but death grasped the wheel of another automobile about midnight last Friday, February 26, 1954, and claimed two more victims.

While returning to their home near Green Bank, Arnold Galford, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kent Galford, and Charles Lacy Pugh, 25, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hoxie Pugh, met their deaths when their car went off the road and crashed headlong into a tree. According to reports, Galford was dead when taken from the car but, hoping they were wrong friends rushed him and the Pugh boy to the hospital in Marlinton. Upon arrival, Galford was pronounced beyond mortal help. Charles Pugh succumbed to his injuries several hours later after valiant efforts of doctors to save him.

The accident happened on Route 28, about 1/4 mile south of Brown Beard's and just about opposite Governor's Pond. The car, reportedly owned by the Galford boy's father, was said to be a total loss.

On Monday afternoon a double funeral was held from the Green Bank Methodist Church in charge of the pastor, Rev. Okey Cooper, assisted by Rev. Quade Arbogast and the Rev. Mrs. C. W. Winkler. Interment was in Arbovale cemetery under the direction of Wallace and Wallace and Smith, Mortuaries.

Hundreds gathered for the last rites of the two young men in what is said to be one of the largest funerals ever held in Pocahontas county.

Besides his parents, Charles Pugh is survived by his wife, Mrs. Faye Moore Pugh; two children, Donita and Charles Lacy Jr.; and two brothers, Thornton, of Charleston and Frantz, of Elkins.

Arnold Galford's parents survive along with seven brothers and a sister. They are, Berlin, Clarksburg; Sam, U. S. Army, stationed in Alabama; Margaret, Baltimore, Md.; Kent Jr.; Dickie, Clark, Bobby, and David, all at home.

452ND BOMB WING, Korea—Corporal Arnold R. Galford, of Green Bank, is known to pilots and crewmen of the Fifth Air Force's 452nd Bomb Wing as "The Voice." Galford is a control tower operator at the 452nd's busy Korean airstrip where its B-26 "Intruder" light bombers fly day and night interdiction and close support missions against the enemy in battered North Korea. The 452nd recently flew its 5,000th combat sortie in Korea and has already passed its first anniversary of active duty. Cpl. Galford is responsible for directing the United Nations aircraft to and from the 452nd's home base with a maximum of safety. He symbolizes the importance of the "behind the scenes" airmen to the overall operation of a tactical air war.

HIGH SCHOOL DREAMS
Ernestine Clarkson

It has been 35 years since we walked down that aisle,
In cap and gown -- trying our best to smile.
And to hold back the tears,
With all our frustrations and fears.
The Class of 1949 -- We were all so young, our whole lives ahead,
By the sweat of our brow, we must earn our bread.
Out into the world on our own,
All at once, we felt so alone.
But that was a long time ago, that we went our separate ways,
But we never once forgot our happy carefree high school days.
Tonight we are together for the second time - from so many places,
All happy to be here with bright smiling faces.
The excitement of getting together with old classmates -
Nothing can compare.
Memories and experiences, there is so much to share.
The older we get the more a class reunion means -
Perhaps we haven't fulfilled all those high school dreams.
But time passes on and we must face the fact -
We're the older generation.
May each of us meet that challenge
With the firm determination
To live each day to the fullest,
Love one another and enjoy each other as we are doing tonight.
May the rest of our lives be happy, productive and bright.
We will say farewell tonight with a pang of sorrow,
But with a heart full of fond memories,
Till we meet once more some other tomorrow.

GREEN BANK HIGH SCHOOL

Our old High School building still stands,
Deteriorating, condemned, so lonesome and bare.
The place we spent four years of our lives -
And they were happy years there.
Now the old school building - like us, is kinda' falling apart,
But it still holds a very special place in our heart.
We remember the good times -- forgot the bad -
In all honesty, we'd all have to agree
They were the best times we ever had.
Just remember this -- it's true to the letter,
Shucks! We're not getting older,
We're just getting better!
